glutaGRO Media® and Supplement

The best research requires the healthiest cells. glutaGRO® media and supplement, the latest offerings from Corning cellgro®, combine the quality you expect with the improved reagent stability you need.

Cells grown in traditional media supplemented with L-glutamine are susceptible to toxicity. With glutaGRO®, cells receive this needed supplement in the healthiest environment possible.

This modified form of L-glutamine does not degrade into ammonia in storage and incubation, minimizing toxicity and improving culture quality.
